

FindMyNannyOnline.com
FAQ'S for Nannies

1. How does FindMyNannyOnline.com work?

FindMyNannyOnline.com is a service that is free of charge for the nannies. We do ask that you respond to the families once they contact you. Please keep your registration updated.

2. How do I find a family?

First, you will need to complete your application. You must have a valid email address in order to search for families. Once we review your application, it will be available for families to review. You will use your password and email address to login and search for families.

3. Where do the families come from?

Families from all over the United States register with FindMyNannyOnline.com to search for their ideal nanny.

4. Is there an age requirement for being a nanny?

We recommend a minimum age of 18 with a high school diploma or GED.

5. Am I required to be CPR/First Aid certified?

The majority of families require that their nanny be CPR/First Aid certified. If you are not, most families will ask that you get the certification before, or shortly after you start your nanny position.

6. Is the family responsible for the nanny's transportation to her job?

The majority of families will require that the nanny has her own vehicle to arrive to and from work. Many families will provide a vehicle for use during work hours. This is all negotiated between nanny and family.

7. What are some of the typical duties that nannies are expected to perform?

Duties will depend on each family's wants and needs. Most nannies will perform duties such as picking up after the children, preparing meals and snacks for the children, child laundry, errands, and shopping. Duties are negotiable between nanny and family.

8. What is the salary range for the nanny?

Salary will depend on experience and qualifications. Many nannies work 40-50 hours/week. Salaries tends to range from $8 to $14/hour. Weekly salaries range from $350 to $700+. Part-time positions range from $250 to $350/week.

9. Will a family run a background check on me?

The majority of families will run a criminal background check on you. After all, you are caring for their most prized possessions -- their children.

10. Can I contact the families?

Yes, nannies are able to contact the families, and the families can contact the nannies. If you are not interested in a position, please be polite and let them know that you are not interested.

11. Can I screen a family?

FindMyNannyOnline.com does not pre-screen families. Be sure to ask the family a lot of questions and contact some of their references. Please be aware of nanny scams. Do not conduct any business on behalf of a family that you are not familiar with. Many scams, including financial transactions, target the online nanny industry.

12. What type of questions can I ask the family?

You can ask the family any questions you may have. Some typical questions asked are: What duties will you require? What hours/days will I be required to work? What salary can I expect? Will you provide a car for me to drive during work hours? Will you require that I be CPR/First Aid certified? Have you hired a nanny before?

13. How long will my account remain active?

Your account will remain active for 45 days.

14. Can I change information on my online application?

Yes, you will make the changes to your profile and click submit to save the changes.

15. Should I remove my application once I find a position?

Yes, please remove your application once you have found a position and have accepted the job.

16. How do I remove my application?

Log into For Nannies and click on Update Your Profile. Click on “Delete Profile” to remove your information.

17. How long will the process of finding a great position take?

The length of time varies from nanny to nanny. Some nannies find matches right away, others may take more time to find the “right match.” Please be sure that you feel you are a good match before accepting a position.
